

It has come to my attention that a new broadcast service, known as Low Power FM, may be taking priority over regular FM stations. One station I listen to extensively is among the regular FM stations. I would like to speak against such a change as this station, known as K-LOVE, would likely become harder to receive. K-LOVE has helped many individuals with their services and music, and if they cannot be heard, then they cannot reach out and help those in need. Please reconsider these proposed changes.
